The Alter family left Germany for America, in 1854, crossing the Atlantic in a sailing vessel in 48 days. They had a most eventful and terrifing voyage with much sickness and trouble aboard ship, one of their own little ones died on the boat between New York and Toledo.

They first made their home in Toledo, where Mr. Alter already had an older brother, John Alter, established in the trucking business. At that time Toledo was a small village. After living there about one and a half years, they left on account of fever, and moved to Ft. Wayne here he was a prominent retail grocer, for many years.

From the above we can say. The App home at 2508 Force St was completed and lived in during year of 1903.
Bauman's moved into the small house at 2317 Force St., when they came from Kansas and it was before Andrew Bauman was born 5-3-1904. Anthony Sauter, must have come from Germany in 1901 or early 1902 to be listed in City Directory in 1902. The Sauter House was built in 1906 the same year they were married, as Norbert was born there in 1907. Casper Fleck may have been in Ft. Wayne prior to 1910 because City Directory only lists employed people and we think he was going to school.

Ursule

Some years after the death of her husband, Francois Xavier Gremaux, Ursule (Rondot) Gremaux, married, Peter Joseph Huguenard, a native of Courchaton France. He came to America and Allen county, with his wife Emila, and two children in May 25, 1848. The 1880 census shows they settled in Jefferson Twp. The wife died some time between 1860 and 1873.

Ursule's parents were, we think, Jacques Rondot and Francoise Pequignot. She also had an older sister Honorine, who was married to Francois France. They came to America prior to 1850 and settled in St. Joseph Township, Allen County, Indiana.

The above listed young men are also presumed to be some relation to Claude Francis Rondot. They were listed on ships passengers list, ship "Galla" arriving at port of New York 5-9-1850, along with their parents Claude and Marie and sister Hortense. Since their names have not shown up on any census records in Allen County, Indiana, it must be presumed they stayed in Canada.
They were not listed in Claude Francis's will in 1855.

 and John Baptist, to be sent to the United States.

They were not listed in Claude Francis's will in 1855. Instead, it must be assumed that they stayed in Kansas. Their names have not shown up in any census records in Illinois. With such evidence Francis and Maria and other children, like their uncle "Abella", arriving at part of New York in 1855, along to Claude Francis's school. They were listed on census correspondence. The above listed group was also presumed to be some relation.

1. Chlorophyll a and Chlorophyll b contents were determined by spectrophotometry using the method of Lichtenthaler and Whistler (1987). The absorbance of the chlorophyll extracts was measured at 663 nm and 646 nm. The concentrations of chlorophyll a and chlorophyll b were calculated using the following equations:

: GENEALOGY : SUNDERLAND Family

The original family name of the Sunderlands was SPENCER.
The family name was changed in the latter half of the sixteenth century.
It came about in this wise.

In the fierce controversy between King Charles I of England, and his Parliament, Henry Spencer, then a young man scarcely twenty one, espoused the cause of the King of England, rendering valuable service to him. The grateful monarch created him the Earl of Sunderland, conferring upon him large estates (in the Sunderland, in the north easterly corner of England, which is cut off from the mainland by an arm of the sea) to enable him to maintain the dignity of title.

A few months after this the young Earl was killed by a cannon shot at the Battle of Thrusburg in 1643, leaving a wife and unborn son. This son inherited his father's title by common consent, although it properly did not belong to him. His name was Robert Spencer, second Earl of Sunderland, born 1640. His son was Charles Spencer, third Earl of Sunderland, born 1675, and Samuel, third son of Charles, third Earl, was born August 19-1719.

Peter Sunderland, born 10-3-1760 in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The younger brother of William Sunderland. Peter was a Revolutionary Solder, from Somerset County, New Jersey.

Fort Amanda, Allen County, Ohio; is the resting place of one of the greatest heroes of the battle of Bunker Hill, and the last man to leave the trenches in that memorable fight, viz:

Peter Sunderland, great grand father of ex. county treasurer J.B. Sunderland and C.P. Sunderland. By the time the British had made the third charge up the grade, the powder supply in the fort had been exhausted and the Americans were obliged to fight with gun-sticks- clubs and stones. Mr. Sunderland, after using up all his powder, picked up three guns of wounded soldfers, only to find that each of them had been discharged. He raised the fourth gun when a British solder aimed a blow at his neck with a sword. A quick turn of the gun caused the sword to strike directly in Mr. Sunderland's mouth, cutting both cheeks half way to the ears. Again the British soldier struck, cutting through the wall of his abdomen. The fourth gun, Mr. Sunderland discharged into his antogonist and thrust him throug with the bayonet. he then escaped and tying a handkerchief about his abdomen, swam a stream, and concealed himself in the swamp. Here he was found by his comrades two or three days after-wards and rescued from an untimely death.

William Sunderland had three sons, all born and raised near New Brunswick, N.J. He and his three sons came to Cincinnati, Ohio, remained there a short time, when he and sons Peter and Richard went to Vandalia, Ohio. They purchased land of Symme's.

Note: By Dr. C.W. Root. I have Visited this grave in Centerville, Ohio (old grave yard, 8 miles south of Dayton, Ohio.) On it is a Marker put up by the S.A.R. sons of the American Revolution I775, Revolutionary grave marker, authorized and registered by the sons of the American Revolution. Near by is the grave of his wife. Epitaph: Sara Sunderland, wife of William Sunderland, died March 20, I8I5. The inscription is badly weathered. Her name seemed to be Sarah Reasor Sunderland. She may have been a native of New Brunswick, N.J.

Page I263 Centennial Biographical Record of Dayton and Montgomery County, Ohio.

In the Probate office of Montgomery County is a curious, musty volume of records in which may be found a copy of the first will ever recorded in the county. The date is June 6, I802, and is that of Gennet Van Norsdall of Hamilton County, Territory of the United States, Northwest of the River Ohio. The witnesses of the Venerable document were James Snowden, and Richard and Peter Sunderland. Richard Sunderland in company with two brothers, Peter and John, as shown on the first tax receipts about I803, entered I60 acres each in section 20, Washington _____, where he had twice been burned out. Thence he went to land in Butler County. The Sunderlands were from Pennsylvania or New Jersey. They belonged to the society of Friends or Quakers.

* Notes *

Benjamin and Margaret Weller Sunderland, my great- grandparents, left their native state of Ohio and came to Allen County, Indiana in 1836, when their first child, John Weller Sunderland, was less than one year old. They bought a tract of land northwest of Fort Wayne, in what is now Washington Township and lived in their covered wagons until a cabin could be erected for a home. Fort Wayne, at that time was a tiny village mostly populated with soldiers, a few white settlers and friendly Indians.

Life was primitive and difficult as they cleared their land for farming and great-grand-mother was desperately afraid of the Indians, even though they were supposed to be friendly. When she would see them coming down the trail, she would clutch her children in her arms and run to wherever her husband was working the land. Years later, she told how she once ran from the house with a child in each arm-- tripped over something and fell, hurting the baby, Mary E. She vowed then and there, to never run from the Indians again.

As more settlers came to Indiana and populated the territory out toward Eel River Township, the Sunderlands opened their home to travelers who were on their way to or from Fort Wayne. Traveling was so difficult and slow that people would come as far as Sunderlands one day, -- rest for the night there and proceed on their way to Fort Wayne, do their shopping and return for the night before going on home the third day. On one occasion a family stopped for the night with a sick child. the illness turned out to be diptheria and the little girl died there. At the close of the Civil War, a Northern soldier, returning to his home in Eel River Township, was too weak and ill to go on, so the Sunderlands cared for him before sending him on his way. That soldier was Wesley Johnston.

1860 Census Allen County Indiana. John 25., Jeanette 22., daughter Agnes 2 years, born in Indiana.

John Weller Sunderland

Misfortune always seemed to travel close to the footsteps of my Grand Father, John Weller Sunderland. When he was just about sixteen years old he and some friends were shooting mark when a gun was accidentally discharged, striking his left arm between elbow and shoulder. There was no doctor available in Fort Wayne and a neighbor rode a horse back to Ohio for one. It was three days before the doctor arrived and when he came, he simply removed the almost completely severed arm but no further care was given the jagged bone and torn muscles.

For a full year, young John lay in bed, racked with pain and fever. He refused food except when his little sister Annie (Sarah Ann) would feed him. When he was at last able to be up, the shoulder muscles had wasted away, leaving deep grooves across his back, his hair had fallen out and come in again - snow white.

His parents were sure he could never earn his living on the farm so they sent him to an acadamy to educate him for someother work, but he disliked the school so much, he refused to stay.

He did learn to work the land in spite of his handicap and could do almost any pary of the farming that another man could do.

Another time when misfortune and sorrow entered his life was after his marriage to Jeanette Johnson and when his family had grown to three little daughters, the youngest, Clara Sunderland Dunn, was about six and one half months old, when death took his wife from him and the children. The great grand parents, Benjamin and Margaret Sunderland opened their hearts and home to the little family and raised them to maturity.

The second marriage of John W. Sunderland was to Mary Rowe. There were four children born to this union. The first, a son Frank died at a very early age. (I have been unable to learn either the date of his birth or death.) Two more sons, followed, Benjamin and then Peter Leroy. Peter Leroy died at the age of four, in 1881. A daughter, my Mother, followed in the same year. Then again, misfortune reared it's ugly head, and death took Mary Rowe Sunderland from her family. Mary Rowe Sunderland had been a healthy individual, but caught a heavy cold while helping with butchering and died of " quick consumption" (probably pnuemonia).

My mother was at this time only about sixteen months old. For some reason, probably because there were already three grand children in their home and the fact that the grand father's health was failing, the grand parents thought they could not take another motherless babe to raise, and mother was given to a childless couple to raise. She lived with them for a while but while she was still quite small, the grand-parents did take her in and she lived in their home until her marriage.

The third marriage of John W. Sunderland was to Katherine Price Smthers. There was one child, John R. Sunderland, born to this union.

(The above bits of information have been passed onto me by my mother, Emma G. Sunderland Hyndman and others.

Berneice Hyndman Reed.

1992-1993

disliked the school so much, he refused to stay.

The second marriage of John A. Buchanan was an early failure. There were four children born to this union. The first, a son, Frank, died at a very early age. I have been unable to learn either the date of his birth or death. Two more sons, William, Buchanan and then later James, Taylor, lived at the age of four, in 1911. A daughter, my mother, followed in the same year. Then again, misfortune seemed to visit them, and death took away both Buchanan from her family. My how I understand and need a healing individual. But caught a heavy cold while helping with baptizing and died of "acute pneumonia" (probably pneumonia).

There was one child, JOHN W. GARDNER, born in this town. The third marriage of John W. Gardner was to Katherine Jones Gardner. His wife died in 1841 in their home when her mother, who then had a white son while she was still quite young, the grand-daughter was given to a childless couple to raise, the lady the great-great-grandmother of the present Mrs. Gardner. The great-great-grandmother then died and her mother-in-law raised her and her mother was already three years old when in 1841 she died when she was only sixteen months old. The same day as this was the day when the first Gardner was born.

* Notes *

After the marriage of Mary Alcinda Sunderland to William A. Davis, the couple moved to Sturgis, Michigan, where Mr. Davis worked as a plasterer and mason, having learned that trade from his father. While in Sturgis, they were urged by a Presbyterian Minister there, to apply to their home mission board for positions as teachers to the Seminole Indians, in the southwest part of the United States.

Since both of the Davis' had sufficient training to teach, they Applied for the work and were soon on their way. Mrs. Davis recalls that they went with a feeling of apprehension, since neither of them had ever seen an Indian, much less knew how to live among them. She cannot recall how long they lived among the Indians but it was probably for some time because they had come to feel that it was time they should settle down in a home of their own.

They then returned to Indiana and Mr. Davis taught a school for a short time until they were again sought out by the Bureau of Education for Alaska to take charge of a school in Unalaska. They left Indiana in January of that year and did not arrive at, their destination until in april, all the while enduring the hardships of sea travel at its worst.

The school didn't open until September, but the Davis' were very busy in those intervening months, trying to set up a home in the arctic. They hadn't been able to take any home furnishings with them and none were Available after they arrived, so they lived with make-shift furniture,

* Notes *

After the marriage of Mary and Lawrence in 1886, the people moved to Michigan, where Mr. David was at a and woman, having learned that there was a large they were moved to a Presbyterian minister there, to study to their mission board for position as teachers to the American Indians, in the southwest part of the United States.
These were of the David's and children living in 1886, they applied for the work and were soon on their way. Mrs. David recalled that they went with a feeling of apprehension, when called to their new work in Indian, much less than the live among them. The cannot recall how long they lived among the Indians but it was probably for some time because they had seen to feel that it was time they should settle down in a home of their own.
They then returned to Indiana and Mr. David bought a house for a year time until they were again sought out by the Bureau of Education for Alaska to take charge of a school in Unalakleet. They left Indiana in January of that year and did not arrive at their destination until in April, all the while carrying the baggage of one traveling at the water.
The schoolhouse was open until September, but the David's were very busy in their preparation work, trying to get on a good in the school.
They had not been able to take any more photographs with them and some were available after they arrived, so they lived with some-what furniture.

made from boxes of what lumber they could acquire, and with very few dishes and pans.

They stayed in Alaska for three years, during which time there was one time they had no mail for five months.

They returned then, to Indiana because of the illness of Mrs. Davis' mother but later took up their teaching work again, this time in Mississippi, among the poor white people. Their worst experience there was when small-pox broke out and they had ninety cases, and were quarantined without doctors or medicine. Mrs Davis relates that they lost only one patient and gained a lot of experience.

Mrs. Davis now lives at 205 S. 24th. St. San Jose, Calif. with her adopted daughter, Mary Elizabeth. She is past ninety-two years old.

1. Introduction

The purpose of this study is to investigate the effects of various factors on the performance of a system. The study is organized as follows: Section 2 describes the system and the factors being investigated. Section 3 presents the experimental design and the results of the experiments. Section 4 discusses the implications of the results and provides conclusions. Section 5 contains references.

The system under investigation is a complex system with many interacting components. The factors being investigated are the input variables that affect the system's performance. The experimental design is based on a factorial design, which allows for the investigation of the main effects of each factor and the interactions between factors. The results of the experiments are presented in tables and graphs, and are discussed in detail in Section 3.

The implications of the results are discussed in Section 4, and conclusions are drawn in Section 5. The study shows that the factors investigated have a significant effect on the system's performance, and that the interactions between factors are also important. The results can be used to optimize the system's performance and to design more efficient systems in the future.
